

“Domonic Whilby still has his life. My William doesn’t have his.”

— Nancy Rodriguez, widow.

We Remember
William
Pena.
Let’s Get to Court
on Oct. 20
And Show
Our Support

In the early morning of February 12, 2014, Domonic Whilby, a drunk driver, drove a stolen truck into Bus Operator William Pena’s M14 bus. The bus was forced off the street into an office building, and William died from the impact. It’s been over two years, and William’s family is still waiting for justice.

On October 20, at 9AM, trial begins. William’s family asks that all transit workers who are able to attend the hearing – to show the judge that we are here for each other and our families.

What happened to William could happen to any transit worker, anywhere, any time.

Thursday, October 20th, at 9AM

New York Supreme Court Criminal Term

100 Centre Street, NYC Part 32 13th Floor

Please remember to sit together and wear an MTA or TWU shirt.

Check williampena.org for updates

We’re Going to Stand as One — Join Us